A Shadow...

I look around this empty room and I feel the loneliness sinking in, drowning me. I never had anyone; they all abandoned me and called me insane. What am I? I am just a shadow of a man, a pathetic human being, just like all the others I see everywhere. I hate them all; I hate myself just as much. All I want is pain and death. These are the only things I have to look forward to. I wish I could just end it all right now. If only he were here; he was the only one who cared.
